FORTUNE HUNTERS.

BY HUNDREDS THEY WILL GO TO CLONDYKE.

ADVICE OF OLD PROSPECTORS.

NO MAN SHOULD GO WITHOUT A THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Deputy Assessor Pruett Kills Himself at San Jose—Ex-Collector Welburn Up for Examination.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The Alaskan gold fields and the stories brought here by the recent arrivals from the Clondyke continue to be an absorbing topic of conversation throughout this city.

From every quarter come fresh reports of the astonishing possibilities of the newly-discovered camp, and the spirits of adventuresome fortune-seekers who, with the first news, have the steamer Excelsior, and others, are now being fanned into a consuming flame. In every quarter may be found prospective miners, prospective merchants, traders, tradesmen and workmen, all of whom are outlining plans for profitable occupation in the region of the country which is at this moment the center of the world's interest.

Those whose knowledge of Alaska and of the Alaskan gold fields entitle them to speak intelligently on the subject not only seem to share a similarity of opinion as to the great resources of the territory that has just been opened, but also as to the resources that those who go hither to seek the precious metal must possess, if they hope to return with any degree of success.

In an interview today H. J. Borling, who has visited that section for the last ten seasons, spoke briefly of his ideas of the Alaskan prospects, and while his impressions are of a most sanguine character, he says emphatically that, in his opinion, no one should journey to the Clondyke country without at least $1000 in money and supplies.

"The season in which the mines can be worked is from May 15 to September 15, and during that time the weather closely resembles the weather in this locality, but during the balance of the year it is impossible to work the mines unless they are operated underneath the covering of a house."

"The cost of living may be safely estimated at $5 a day, and those who go north must figure on that basis. There is good game to be had in the form of reindeer, moose and mountain sheep during the winter, but outside of this form of food all other supplies must be imported."

RICHEST FIELDS KNOWN.

So Says Gov. McIntosh of the Northwest Territory.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.), July 19.—Hon. C. H. McIntosh, Governor of the Northwest Territory, in a letter to the richly-famed Clondyke district, is in Seattle, being en route to Regina, the capital of his wealth-laden kingdom.

The Governor, like many other reputations, freely subscribes to the truth of the stories sent out as to the richness of the new diggings. In truth, the Governor is an enthusiast over the wealth-producing possibilities of British Yukon.

"I consider the British Yukon gold fields the richest ever trod by man," Gov. McIntosh observed this afternoon. "It is a great treasure-house, in which gold has been accumulating for hundreds of years. Indeed, the gold supply is practically inexhaustible. There are hundreds of creeks, and the Clondyke is only one of them."

The Governor estimates that the Clondyke and its tributaries yield over $3,000,000 in gold last winter. Of this amount, he says $2,000,000 and upward came out via the steamships Portland and Excelsior. More than a million dollars in dust, he says, is stored away in the cabins of miners along the creeks being developed.

"The British Yukon yield of gold for 1897," he has estimated, "will not be less than $10,000,000. Of course, this, as was the case with the Cassiar and Cariboo countries, it is not possible to keep a record of what is taken out, but I am convinced that I am not placing the amount too high."

"I placed the gold and silver yield of the Rossland and Kootenai districts for 1897 at $7,000,000, and I have semi-official information to the effect that that will be very near the exact figures, all of which to my mind is ample evidence that within five years these districts will be producing more gold than either Colorado, California or South Africa."

Gov. McIntosh says surveyors are now at work trying to ascertain the feasibility of the construction of a railroad into the Yukon. One route contemplates a line of steamers from Fort Wrangle up the Stikine River, which is open for navigation to both countries to Telegraph Creek, there to connect with a railroad running to Teslin Lake. From the Teslin Lake terminus boats will be run along a series of lakes and rivers to the Yukon.

DESERED AT THE ALTAR.

Disappearance of a Man Who Was Going to Wed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

OAKLAND, July 19.—Mrs. Lucinda Wagner has been deserted at the threshold of her wedding by Harry Roberts, a sweetheart of her childhood's days. Years ago in Missouri she and Roberts were friends. He heard of the conviction of her son, Abe Majors, for burglary, and came here to offer her assistance. Only a few weeks ago the approaching wedding of the couple was announced. The vows of childhood had been renewed. Roberts had become a boarder at the Wagner home. He took an apparently deep interest in the boy, Abe, at Folson, and promised liberal fees to attorneys who should succeed in having the youth transferred to the State reformatory. Roberts, they say, claimed that he owned a large ranch in Monterey county and had mines in Colorado. Now he has disappeared and his creditors are mourning.

WELBURN'S CROOKEDNESS.

His Friends Surprised by the Testimony Yesterday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Ex-Collector of Internal Revenue O. M. Welburn appeared before United States Commissioner Peacock today for preliminary examination upon the charge of embezzlement preferred against him by Special Agent Thrasher. The testimony proved to be unusually sensational, and disclosed a state of affairs wholly unexpected by Welburn's friends.

It was shown by F. H. Dillard, a colored messenger employed in Welburn's office, that at the instance of his employer he had signed the name of E. C. Aiken to salary checks for each month from September last until March of this year. These signatures were modeled upon genuine signatures furnished by Welburn. Chief Deputy Louis Loupe had subsequently acknowledged each signature under oath. Aiken stated that he only received $25 a month for services, although he was on the pay roll for $1000 per annum, and that he had not authorized anyone to use his signature. Owing to the illness of Loupe, a continuation was granted until Tuesday next.

CROCKER ESTATE.

Its Management Will Devolve Largely on George Crocker.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The management of the Crocker estate is expected to devolve largely upon George Crocker, but those who are in the best position to judge consider that some one outside of the family will be named to the office of first vice-president of the big railroad corporation. It is rumored that Gen. Hubbard of New York may be offered the position, if he can arrange matters so that he can take up his residence in San Francisco, which he would necessarily have to do. Col. Crocker's will is locked up in his private vault at the Crocker-Woolrich Bank, and it will remain until after the funeral, when it will be opened. The members of the family decline to discuss it at present, and Col. Crocker's lawyers do not feel at liberty to reveal its contents.

THE MINERS' STRIKE.

LEADERS MAINTAINING SECRET AS TO THEIR MOVEMENTS.

Assessment of Two Dollars a Head for Benefit of the Coal Diggers—Debs Day at Fairmount.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

PITTSBURGH, July 19.—The strike leaders are maintaining the greatest secrecy regarding their movements, and it is believed they contemplate calling on the railway organizations for assistance. Secretary Warner gave out information today that a meeting of railway employes was held yesterday, at which the situation of the miners' strike was thoroughly discussed. Resolutions were adopted pledging support to the strikers and each member was assessed $2 for the strike fund. Mr. Warner refused to divulge the name of the railroad employing the men, stating that it might lead to an investigation and the discharge of the men.

From another source it was reported to be a meeting of the conductors and the brakemen of the roads centering in Pittsburgh. It was claimed that the action taken was at the suggestion of the officials of the Railway Union. Active work has been commenced in the coke region, and efforts will be made to bring out all the men at once where the product of being shipped to Pittsburgh. The mines at Leechburg on the West Pennsylvania Railroad were closed.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the proposed raid, the mine-owners at these pits ordered a suspension until the excitement should die out.

DEBBS'S DAY.

WHEELING (W. Va.), July 19.—Today was Debs day at Fairmount, and it was the greatest day in the history of the town. People came from all the country around and jammed the Courthouse and streets for blocks, but they came out for the purpose of sympathy with the strikers. This was shown by the fact that the Pritchard miners who have been out after hearing the speech and voted to return to work tomorrow.

Tonight Debs gave it as his opinion that the region would be quiet if the strikers would be back at work by that time unless the agitators get out of the mine. Debs was very cool and moderate in his talk, and offended no one.

Every man who marches in the big Labor-day parade in Chicago must wear union-made shoes with the union label imprinted on the sole. A committee has been appointed to inspect every shoe in the line of march, and any man found guilty of wearing non-union shoes will be dealt with accordingly. The action to this effect was taken at the labor meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, the suggestion of William T. Jones of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Association of America.

As the life of their little son was ebbing away, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tere, in San Francisco, was nearly burned down. While the mother watched the death of her boy, the father helped to fight the flames. When they were extinguished, the lad was dead. A remarkable feature of the case is the fact that the boy's death was the result of injuries received while playing that he was a fireman and aiding some young companions to extinguish an imaginary blaze in the very place the flames afterward broke out.

BRADBURY SAYS WARD IS A REGULAR SVENGALI.

He is Confident That His Wife Was Under Maligna Influence When She Elope.

THEY ARRIVE IN NEW YORK.

"CHOLLY" BATES MEETS THEM AND TAKES THEM IN TOW.

John Shows No Signs of the Recent Strain but Lucie is Nervous. Their Plans are Still Indefinite.

[BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.]

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Special Dispatch.] Col. John Bradbury, the California millionaire, arrived in New York this evening, accompanied by his wife. They left Chicago at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and arrived at the Grand Central station at 6:30 o'clock Monday evening. A passenger said the couple showed many signs of affection during the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury were met at the Grand Central station by "Cholly" Bates, the famous writer. The husband, whose love has been put to a severe test, did not appear to have suffered from the strain of the last few weeks. If he did suffer, the pleasure which came with the reconciliation effected in Chicago by Mrs. Bradbury's mother had entirely removed its traces.

Mrs. Bradbury was manifestly nervous. From one of a dozen gold ornaments hanging from her belt, she frequently partook of fragrant cachous. She watched her husband as he talked with Bates in an uncertain, hesitating way, as if she was not entirely assured of her position. When Bradbury and Bates rejoined her, the three entered a carriage and were driven to the Waldorf.

Mr. Bradbury said the reconciliation was complete. "We have made up our differences," said he, "and we hope to be allowed to begin life over again without further publicity. We shall stay in New York for a few days and may then go to Europe. Possibly we shall first go to one of the seaside resorts near here, but we shall not return to San Francisco for some time, possibly for a year."

"Mrs. Bradbury and I have not discussed the episode in California very much. But from what she tells me, I know she would not have gone away with Ward if he had not exerted a hypnotic influence over her. As soon as they separated, Ward lost this and Mrs. Bradbury became herself. Lucie and I are happy together now."

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

NEW YORK, July 19.—[By Associated Press.] John Bradbury, the Los Angeles millionaire, and his wife, Lucie Bradbury, who became reconciled to each other in Chicago a few days ago, arrived at the Grand Central station this evening. The Bradburys remained in their private compartments on the train during the entire trip from Chicago. They seemed to be happy when they alighted from the train.

Col. Bradbury said that the journey from Chicago was most delightful, and referring to the reconciliation with his wife, said:

"Yes, we are reconciled. We shall stay in New York a few days, and then go to Europe. We have no definite plans as yet. In fact, we have not discussed the matter very much on our way from Chicago here. I do not care to give my address in New York. It is possible that Mrs. Bradbury and myself will go to some seaside resort before we go abroad. Now, this is all I have to say."

Before getting into the carriage, Mr. Bradbury added that it was his belief that W. Russell Ward had exerted an undue influence over his wife, and that she would never have done what she did had it not been for his spell over her.

He further vouchsafed the opinion that the whole matter would be soon forgotten, and said that Mrs. Bradbury was sincerely sorry for the act and attributed it to the powerful and dangerous control Ward had acquired over her.

Who is Happy?

The healthy mother of a healthy child.

A happiness all her own. Here's a joy that cannot be told. It is peculiar to motherhood. The responsibility for the soft little, sweet little, dependent creature—as much a part of herself as her own heart—brings a pleasure that may be equal to Heaven, but never on earth. The greatest thing that can be done in this world is to bear and rear healthy, happy children. Many women do not do it—they do not reach the full measure of beautiful, perfect womanhood, because of the neglect of the health of the organs distinctly feminine.

Every woman may be perfectly healthy if she chooses. She need not submit to the humiliating examinations and local treatment of physicians. She need have no trouble or slight expense. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure any disease or disorder peculiar to women. It is the invention of a regularly graduated, skilled, expert, successful specialist. It has been sold for over 30 years, and has a greater sale than all similar medicines combined. It regulates every function—makes a woman better able to bear children—better able to take care of her children. It greatly lessens the pain and danger of parturition. No honest druggist will offer you a substitute—look out for the one who does.

Brightly plump. Constipation causes them. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are permanent. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. "Que Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two mild cathartics. Sometimes druggists have a "Que Pellet" in their stock, and offer something, said to be "just as good."
